24ain O Ionawr / 24th January 2020

News Article: 67% of healthcare organisations have suffered cyber security incidents
67% of healthcare organisations have experienced a cyber security incident in the past year, highlighting the serious threat that data breaches and malicious attacks pose to the UK's health-related data.

News Article: What can you use instead of Google and Facebook?
Online data scandals have raised concerns about the power that information brings. What alternatives are there to the likes of Google and Facebook, which offer greater privacy?

News Article: Shamed social worker quits after being caught illegally sharing confidential and highly-sensitive information on troubled children
A shamed social worker has quit after he was caught illegally sharing confidential and highly-sensitive information on troubled children while he was banned from frontline duties.

News Article: Microsoft Security Shocker As 250 Million Customer Records Exposed Online
250 million Microsoft customer records, spanning 14 years, have been exposed online without password protection, a new report has revealed.

News Article: Mitsubishi Electric confirms its network was breached in June 2019
Mitsubishi Electric confirmed that its computer network was breached by hackers in June last year and that the breach may have resulted in the leak of "personal information and corporate confidential information" to unauthorised entities.

News Article: Facial recognition: EU considers ban of up to five years
The European Commission has revealed it is considering a ban on the use of facial recognition in public areas for up to five years.

News Article: Widely-used cookie walls are flouting GDPR rules
The majority of third-party cookie walls used by UK organisations to obtain consent from users contravene strict data protection laws, researchers claim.

Am rhagor o ddiweddaridau ynglyn â Diogelu data ewch i wefan Swyddfa Comisiynwdd Gwybodaeth.
Cliciwch yma.

For updates on the ICO's Guide to the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) click here [link].